

Writing task:

Plan a story using the pictures below to help you (unless you have your own super idea!).

Once your plan is complete, we would like you to write the beginning today only.

Remember in the beginning of a story you need to introduce the characters (people) and setting (place). You need to provide the reader with enough details and build up suspense so that they want to read on.

Remember to use lots of exciting adjectives to describe your character(s) and setting.

Remember to use connectives (and, but, so and because)

Remember capital letters and full stops.

Try to include an exclamation mark and some commas.
